

2026

Escape From Long Island .

A SHORT STORY BY:
TOM BECHER

A RENAISSANCE MEDIA PRODUCTION

THE CHARACTERS, PLACES, AND EVENTS ARE PRODUCTS OF THE AUTHORS IMAGINATION OR ARE USED FICTITIOUSLY, AND ANY RESEMBLANCE TO REAL LIVING OR DEAD PERSONS OR ACTUAL EVENTS ARE PURELY COINCIDENTAL.

HOW DO YOU PROVE A NEGATIVE....

If you are unfamiliar with that phrase then let me initiate you quickly....(I like to get to the point and cannot have you in the dark out of the gate!!!!)

- 1) I say to you “WHEN WAS THE LAST TIME YOU BEAT YOUR CHILD”
- 2) You may get startled and frankly you may get a little upset and angry and then after you gather yourself you would say defiantly “I have never done such a thing”
- 3) Then if I said “Well I heard that you did beat your children....please prove that you didn’t”
- 4) You might get even more upset at the simple accusation and request for proof and then you would possibly have some choice words for me and tell me to “go to my room and make love to myself”
- 5) Leaving that conversation you would probably go tell a bunch of people how this crazy person accused you of beating your children. Possibly someone would ask “Well have you ever even hit your children or been physical” and then you might get outraged at that person and start defending your history as a parent and how much you love your children and that you would die for your children and so on and so forth.

Moral of the story is that you would NEVER be able to prove you never beat your child. So you would learn over time to simply not answer and let your actions speak for themselves. For when you start to answer questions that are as stupid as “when is the last time you beat your child” then you are giving power and credibility to a very malicious question. That type of question is meant to introvert and anyone that asked the question would either not be educated on why it’s a malicious question or they would have malicious intent.

Editors note: I am going to give you a story about a “friend” named Brad. I will keep the story as brief as possible for now and excuse the humor I merely wish to entertain and not minimize the pain that people go through when faced with having to prove a negative and just how badly a person can be hurt by having to prove a negative in our society. Again this is meant to be a fictional story for your entertainment purposes only!

Table of Contents

Background information	1
Introduction to Brad and Angelina	2-3
2017 and Backstory	4-9
2024.....	9-15
2026.....	15-20
CLIFFHANGER.....	20-22

Editors Note:

Please Do Your best to Follow Along and if you need to jump to the end or pick it up another time please do so....We are not promising an easy read but we are promising a fun one!!!!

Escape From Long Island

August 2017....

Our story begins with a hard working home improvement contractor coming home from work with his one year old son. Recently this handsome and charismatic father had started to take over more and more responsibility for his son his wife and him had decided to start using day care and let go of the nanny who was a little “cray cray” and most definitely overpriced. (she was allergic to dishes and cleaning and highly unionized)

Let’s name our 40 something year old bald head stunning man Brad (he looks more like Jason Statham or UFC fighter Sean Strickland but he loves Brad Pitt as an actor so lets humor him and call him Brad).

So our Brad was having the time of his life in 2017:

- His business was flourishing
- He had just dropped a ton of weight and had a 6 pack for the first time
- He was more involved as a dad and was loving it
- He had a flourishing social network at his local gym
- He had a beautiful wife

Brad was riding high and started to think about his long time dreams of being a life consultant and helping to change the world for the better. The dreams he had long buried he was digging up and it was happy and emotionally charged time for him. For when you have failed purposes and they are reignited there can be all types of emotions...grief, anger, resentment, and excitement.

Well our Brad is a gregarious guy and loves to chat it up so he began talking to people about his renewed passion for helping people and how he wanted to expand his business and eventually transition back into what he wanted to do in 2001 when he first became an entrepreneur.

Now of course every story needs a villain and that is when we introduce Angelina. (Now our villain looks nothing like Angelina Jolie but our main character loves loves Angelina Jolie and Angelina Jolie makes a mean villain so we will cast her for now). In truth our main character is an above average good looking blonde basic Long Island white chick. She is slightly friendly, sarcastic, moderately funny, doesn’t like to cook, and has above average intelligence and a low work ethic.

Angelina doesn’t make a lot of money, she was always a little insecure about our Brad’s looks, his charming personality, and now his six pack and well defined muscles. And now to add more coal to the fire our Brad was starting to take over as the one taking care of their son more and more with pick up and drop offs at day care.

Suffice it to say Angelina did not like this at all and in the background Angelina had continued to have a relationship with a coworker (George...for George Clooney...the coworker looks more like a lesser version of Brad Pitt...certainly a very good looking lighter haired man but our Brad doesn't like George Clooney much and believes that Brad Pitt should have been the lead in Ocean's Eleven not George Clooney but I digress...we shall call the villains boy toy at work George!)

2014-15 - Flashback

George was a married man that had a senior position to Angelina at work. George was very attracted to Angeline and Angelina was very attracted to George. When Angelina first started working with George she had gone through a tough breakup and our George was there to comfort Angelina...I mean what is coworker supposed to do...let an attractive coworker suffer alone??

So George did what a lot of “good” men did in our modern era (2015) and he got emotionally involved with Angelina to comfort her and they developed a relationship. Totally “nothing” to see here. Just a married man with two kids helping a pretty blond that needs emotional support. Certainly everything was above board...We will let your imagination go on what happened next between Angelina and George...

April 2015....Flashback

Brad meets Angelina at a running club...they had seen each other before but on this day Angelina is in very cute running shorts and with each interval around the track Brad is motivated to catch up to Angelina until he starts beating her towards the later parts of the workout.

Our Brad starts to “catch feels” for Angelina as he starts to imagine what it feels like under those cute running shorts...and well he does some subtle flirting...he flashes a couple of debonair smiles...he says “nice pacing”...and otherwise warms up Angelina so he can go in for the kill and get her number some another time.

Little did Brad know that Angelina was being sold on going after Brad by her sister who was also a member of the club. And well within the next hour Angelina made the bold 2015 move and Facebook friend requested Brad! And as Brad was back at the gym discussing women with his friend while doing some bench presses (yes its cliché but stick with me!)...well he sees the friend request pop up and well as they say in the business...the rest is history....We will let your imagination go wild...let's just say about four months later and after a lot of practicing a baby boy was conceived!

Back to August 2017....

Angelina is in the car coming home from work and as it was customary for her she would call her coworker George and they would talk about the things pretty married women and handsome married co workers talk about...We will again let your imaginations go wild....

Now our Brad called Angelina and Angelina promptly would get off the phone and talk to our Brad and coordinate dinner or whatever quickly and then promptly of course call back her handsome coworker George because of course they just didn't get enough of each other at work and had "things" to discuss.

And this was a regular pattern as Angelina and George had a special relationship and Brad had been aware of it.

(quick flashback to May 2015) Angelina had told Brad when they were first dating about George and it made Brad uneasy to the point he nearly broke up with Angelina when she went to a concert with George when Angelina and Brad were dating less than a month. In all fairness to Angelina the concert plans had already been made...so what was Angelina to do? And what is wrong with a married man going to a concert with an attractive co-worker this is 2015 baby!!!!

So after some tears and nearly a breakup Brad decided to stay with Angelina under the condition she would NEVER have a relationship with George outside of work. Now this was not fair to our villain Angelina. Why should she be denied access to a man that would give her attention especially when she was feeling insecure. She felt it was unreasonable and that she had the right to bend the rules a little and do something that she would not want Brad to do to her.

Angelina continued to communicate with George and just when Brad was about to end it all....you guessed it...a baby boy was conceived.

So our Brad decided to do what the right thing in his universe was to do...and that was to marry the pretty Angelina even though he knew she did not necessarily have the same ideals as him. She was great in bed and had an above average family and the dating market in Long Island was slim pickings for a 40 year old!

(back to August 2017)

Brad and Angelina are having a couple of friends over to watch an sporting event.....

Now Brad had a “good” friend Tim (named after comedian Tim Dillon because Brad’s friend was overweight...but more fit than Tim Dillon...but we feel Tim would be great comedic help to this dramatic story and we are big fans of Tim Dillon’s sarcasm).

Angelina is a crafty villain and was very friendly with Tim and Tim was not very good with the ladies so Angelina was very capable of working her charm on Tim and started to tell Tim that she was “worried” that Brad was losing his mind. (Angelina started a few days before to drop some hints to try and make Tim look for signs that Brad was not well)

Now when you are looking for something there are times when you find “something” so when Tim saw our Brad getting excited the night before at dinner talking about building a business together about wellness...Tim started to hear Angelina’s worries in his head. And of course Tim kept it a secret that Angelina had called him to his best friend Brad.

Why would Tim give up this secret relationship he had started with a pretty blond even though it was his best friend’s wife? He is allowed to have a secret relationship discussing his best friend’s mental state...it is the year 2017....Anything goes!!!!

So on this Friday night Angelina and Tim keep locking eyes on our Brad’s generally excited state. They have another friend over Nick (after Nicholas Cage...the other friend bears a resemblance to Nicholas Cage and is a bit of a fun sponge and we feel that Nicholas Cage would kill it in this part and add more star power to the movie).

Now Nick is one of these modern day Beta males that had a mother that was more Alpha than his dad. I mean his dad spent his days flipping pizza...and while I am sure he made a good pizza he was not a mover and shaker and his mom was well more attractive and more successful than Nick’s dad.

(Again it is the year 2017 and in this generation and going back 40-50 years women have been told to “date down” or marry a man that loves them more they love the man. So perhaps Nick’s mom followed that advice or possibly Nick’s dad knocked her up on a passionate night and they decided to marry...whatever the case they were an obvious mismatch....)

What that meant for Nick was that he was insecure with having a Beta dad and always felt that the correct relationship was to have a woman that domineered him and this was the way love was. So Nick was telling another story to our Brad, Angelina and Tim about how he was fighting with his girlfriend (who by the way was a hottie and was totally Brad’s type and she happened to be a patient of Tim who was a doctor...but we are getting way too complicated for our story....)

Nick is telling the story and our Brad chimes in and tells Nick he needs to move out of his hot girlfriend's apartment. She was asking him to leave, Nick feels its just her being charming and he is embarrassing himself. So our Brad tries to hold Nick accountable and listen to the woman and respect her space and Tim and Angelina look at each other and nod that yes our Brad must be losing his mind because EVERYONE KNOWS in 2017 you only listen to other people's stories you are NOT ALLOWED to hold people accountable to sensibilities....that is just a faux pax, it is uncouth, it is not socially acceptable....it is not MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

Well our Brad does not know how to mind his own business and he always defends women and he steps in where others wont.

Now Angelina and Tim start to tell our Brad to calm down and we know what happens when you tell an Alpha to calm down...I'll let your imagination go wild.....

Fast forward to later that evening...tensions have calmed and Angelina is starting to tell Brad that she is "worried about him" and "he is not thinking straight" and that "he is being aggressive". Brad gets suspicious at her accusations and his "Spidey Instincts' (for the record Brad loves Batman partly because of Batman's bad ass character and because he does well with the ladies and partly because batman dresses in black and Tom likes how black clothes make him look slimmer).

Brad tells Angelina "Are you still talking to George?....and threatens to check the phone records" Angelina promptly admits that she has been talking to George and then utters, "Are you going to divorce me", while crying a large dosage of crocodile tears...

(Now Crocodile tears are a special form of tears that guilty people use to distract people...different than alligator arms which are men that are cheap and it comes from their inability to reach for the check because of course their "arms are too short.)

Our Brad falls for the crocodile tears and says "of course I wont divorce you"

Well little did Brad know that he was in the Venus Fly Trap (believe it or not this is a carnivorous plant native to the East Coast of the United States (wetlands of North and South Carolina....thank you Wikipedia...and go ahead and give Wikipedia a small donation if you use it...they are worth it here and there...cant trust it for everything but you can get up to date gossip on your favorite people like Shakira!)

The next day Angelina starts calling her family and Brad's family and telling them she is worried about Brad and that he is exhibiting forms of mania.

1. He is excited (about work, losing weight, being more of a dad, dreaming of a new business...you know all that bad stuff humans shouldn't be doing...they should be mediocre and average and not stand out)
2. He is argumentative (challenging Nick and trying to hold others accountable...again things humans should not do...under all conditions you should always mind your own business even when someone is suffering..you can however say "you are sorry" when you really aren't...)
3. He is sleeping less (as is customary when someone is excited about life and springs out of bed to attack the day)
4. He is talking about larger dreams (can you imagine that our Brad was talking about wanting to help other individuals and help play his part in "being the change he wished to see in the world"...Angelina thought "why couldn't Brad just be a good "mind your own business" middle class Long islander and just follow the script!!!")

Well Angelina's family takes the bait and Brad's family (who was always a little jealous of him and sick and tired of him trying to live to higher ideals) also takes the bait.

The day after Angelina had admitted to her infidelity and soaked the bed with crocodile tears....she quickly went into action turning Brad's family, his best friend, and her family against Brad. He was a sitting duck and didn't know it.

Fast forward to 5 o'clock PM and Brad is wrapping up work and wondering where Angelina and his son are. He decides to call his in laws house after Angelina doesn't pick up her phone. Brad's father in law picks up (Clint is his name – of course Clint Eastwood...throwback character..likes guns..not as tough as Clint... as the Clint in our story was partly castrated by his wife but overall a great man like many Clint Eastwood characters).

Clint promptly starts questioning Brad and saying

1. We are worried about you
2. You need more sleep
3. Angelina is staying here tonight she doesn't feel safe there

Well Brad is besides himself and says if Angelina does not come home with his son that night they are getting a divorce. Of course this only further makes Clint think what Angelina is saying is true as Brad is always such a nice guy. Why would Brad be acting so angry if he wasn't losing his mind?

BRAD IS BEING ASKED TO PROVE A NEGATIVE

So what ensues is conversation after conversation with friends, acquaintances, and Brad's own family where Brad pleads for anyone to believe him. He details the story of how Angelina is lying and that she just told him that she was being unfaithful then she left with his son and told everyone he was going manic.

2017 was a bad year for our Brad...

- He had to fight for access for his son and only got to see him supervised
- His business fell apart because he was so shaken by the loss of his son and the lies spread about him
- He lost all of his "friends" and acquaintances
- Most notably he lost confidence in himself and by December 2017 with his life in ruins he started to believe the lies and that he might indeed not be well mentally

Speeding up the story to get to some juicy stuff... 2018 he got back together with Angelina and in 2019 they bought a house with Brad's business taking off again and they conceived Brad's favorite person...his daughter Shakira (simply because his daughter is so beautiful and badass and who wouldn't want to name their daughter Shakira)

Years passed and Brad's businesses flourished and even Brad's father-in-law, Clint, came to work for him. Brad was able to do complimentary work for his in-laws and take care of people with his money and resources for his business. In 2023 he even started to discuss helping finance Angelina and her friend's dreams of opening a Crossfit gym (he knew they didn't have any business savvy...they spoke more about spreading community than turning a profit but he felt their heart was in the right place).

So Brad gently told the three women (all of them mothers to young children) that they were over their skis (meaning they would crash and burn and wipe out if they tried and they had no money) so Brad helped recruit a strapping young dad that could run a gym full time and Brad committed a large portion of his own savings to make Angelina happy.

Well in February 2024 the unthinkable happened to Brad....although Brad's grandfather Anthony had always issued a warning... (for Anthony Hopkins...Brad's grandfather is a legend and how many better legendary actors are there than the great Anthony Hopkins)

"FOOL ME ONCE SHAME ON YOU....FOOL ME TWICE SHAME ON ME."

Well Angelina started to question Brad's sanity again. Remember:

1. Brad is now helping to start up a new gym for Angelina
2. Brad is excited about the new enterprise
3. Angelina is seeing Brad in the business world where he is aggressive

Angelina again starts telling her family and Brad's family about her concerns and they start asking Brad if "he is all right"....

THEY START ASKING HIM TO PROVE A NEGATIVE

This time Brad is more prepared for what is about to happen and he remains calm. Still Angelina's attacks persist. And Brad's family specifically his sister starts saying "We are worried about your...we just want the best for you"

Somehow using her charm Angelina gets a mutual friend and coworker Kevin (named after Kevin James...dumpy Dad like figure except Kevin is not as funny as Kevin James). To also turn on Brad and worry about his mental stability. Brad decides to tell Kevin and Clint to take a break and let him sort things out with Angelina and the business.

Angelina threatens to call the cops if Brad doesn't either leave the house or take anti-psychotic medications and Brad calmly complies and leaves the house with $700,000 in cash from his home safe and some clothes.

Brad remains calm and doesn't get argumentative as he has learned from 2017 (never get argumentative with the enemy) Well a couple of days later Angelina gets Nassau County Police to do a wellness check on Brad forcing Brad to have to:

PROVE A NEGATIVE

Brad stays calm and shows the officers text messages he had from Angelina admitting her recent infidelity and the officers apologize and admit that this is common place in 2024 and leave.

Outside Angelina, Clint and Angelina's mother Leah (Leah Remini is just an annoying actress that has an annoying voice that only worked with Kevin James and is otherwise an average looking woman with little to no acting ability...that being said she gets clicks...so book her!!)

Well Angelina, Clint, and Leah go to work on the officers and get them to come back in and do another wellness check and then they again ask Brad to:

PROVE A NEGATIVE

Brad calmly talks to them and they again leave. Angelina (using her credential as a psychiatric nurse practitioner) with her parents continue to insist and get another medical police to show up and question Brad...and again get him to:

PROVE A NEGATIVE

The new medical officer wanting to get some lunch and move on with his day and seeing that Angelina and her cohorts mean business decides to trick Brad and convince him that he will just get him to the hospital and get him “in and out in an hour or so” and to “trust him”. Brad asks if he has a choice...the officer says “not really” so Brad is taken to the hospital.

At the hospital Brad is stripped of all of his clothes and made to wear a hospital gown and wait from 3pm to 8am the next day in the emergency room as nothing more than a hospital prisoner being held against his will. Still Brad remains calm.

Now behind the scenes the villain of our story Angelina is working her contacts with a psychiatric doctor that has the feels for Angelina. The hospital waits to interview Brad for 17 hours when he has had no sleep sitting in the middle of the emergency room with little food and no updates.

In the morning Brad finally meets with Dr. Jeff...“Wizard of Oz”, (it was a woman psychiatrist but we will make it a man and call him Dr. Jeff for Jeff Goldblum because he would make a good bumbling know it all insecure psychiatrist like he did in WICKED...one of Brad’s favorite movies...because of Ariana Grande...Cynthis Erevo...amazing plot lines and sensational music and the ironic twist on Wizard of Oz...)

Now before Dr. Jeff met with Brad of course Dr. Jeff had to meet with Angelina who had deep connections in the hospital and of course Dr. Jeff didn’t want to be impartial he had to hear Angelina’s side first in order to make a VERY “scientific” evaluation into Brad’s mental health.

So now the Wizard meets our Brad and the conversation lasts for about 3 minutes. And in that 3 minutes Dr. Jeff (AKA the Wizard) makes the proclamation that our Brad is indeed manic and sentences Brad for an indefinite stay in the beautiful psychiatric ward in the wizards castle on the south shore of Long Island.

Brad imprisonment in the castle lasts 10 days and frankly those 10 days is a movie or a book onto itself lets just say its interesting and our Brad spreads his wings and takes detailed notes about the inner workings of how we supposedly “care” for mentally ill people in the year 2024.

While in “prison” the following happens

1. Angelina goes into Brad’s business with two of Brad’s ex employees (one of which is on maternity leave and one is a grouchy ex manager) and tells all workers and subcontractors that the business is being shut down and that Brad is not well mentally

2. Brad's old manager looks up the contacts and progress payments of all current jobs with the help of the office manager on maternity leave (Angelina is clueless to the business and just watching them go to work!)... the terminated manager takes the information for the jobs with a lot of payments left and promptly starts contacting the clients to steal away the jobs leaving the jobs without any "meat on the bone" behind. I mean he is nice enough to help Brad finish the jobs that are profitable....not nice enough to finish the jobs that aren't!
3. Angelina gets the old manager to open the safe (he is the only other person besides Brad with the combination) and promptly steals $120,000 from the safe.

Brad meanwhile is in the hospital catching wind of all of this and has to:

1. Do a social media post declaring he is in the hospital and his business is still open
2. Hire a lawyer for $10,000 with cash money thankfully his good friend Fabio (yes the model Fabio...Brad always called his friend the Brazilian Fabio). Brad had trusted his friend Fabio with $550,000 of the $700,000 he had taken from the house when Angelina threatened him.
3. Brad had Fabio give $150,000 to Keith (his florist...I know it sounds far fetched but stick with me...he isn't Jewish but he is a real Mench!)
4. Keith gives $150,000 to Brad's electrician Joey Bag of Donuts (Brad affectionally called Joey that because Joey was a little special and even Joey's wife would call Joey a "doopty do"....which Brad did not like he doesn't think wives should undermine their husbands especially when the wife doesn't work or cook and isn't model hot!)
5. Brad gets Joey Bag of Donuts to agree to run his businesses for $4000 a week and disburse cash to subcontractors as a measure of good faith and for 10 days Brad runs his business through "Donuts" from the hospital pay phone.

Meanwhile Angelina is not done by any means...she means business!

1. Angelina learns from her new lawyer that she has a weapon that she didn't know she had in 2017. That weapon (which is supposed to be a shield) is the Family Court System and specifically "An order of protection" ...which Family Courts spits out like a PEZ DISPENSER
 - a. (now if you have never seen a PEZ dispenser...please google PEZ dispenser...it was a popular candy in the 80s and it as limited availability now but basically there is an animal head or character head on top of a dispenser and it spits out very bad candy that no kid really wants but its cool to make the head spit out the bad candy so kids will play with it for a few minutes and then toss it to the side)

- b. Brad is served the order of protection in the psych ward. So while he is there...three sherrifs bravely march into the “castle prison” and serve the order to our Brad who reads that he cannot go near Angelina, Shakira, or his son indefinitely because he sent Angelina an email stating he was going to “fight for custody of his kids in court”
2. Angelina then rallies Kevin (remember dumpy Kevin the former co-worker...), Clint (Eastwood...the father in law) and a new employee of the company that is irrelevant (we will call him TJ).
 - a. Dumpy Kevin with a gun in a holster around his waste, Clint (who is an NRA instructor...that’s right he teaches gun safety for the Nation Rifle Association...ironic right!!!!), and TJ....(how he got involved Brad will never know!)....these three “heroes” go to Fabio’s house...(I know its far fetched!)
 - b. While at Fabio’s house they ring the bell and Kevin pulls his jacket aside to do what is called “brandishing” the gun and tells the Brazilian Fabio to give up the money he was protecting for Brad.
 - c. Fabio does the right thing and calls the police
 - d. Kevin is the only one arrested but because he is
 - i. WHITE
 - ii. BETA MALE
 - iii. FORMER NYPD (Go Blue!)
 - iv. Because he is all three he is released WITHOUT ANY jail time and no criminal record!...listen membership has its privileges and Kevin had membership in a few privileged groups

Meanwhile our Brad is keeping his “you know what together”

(Brad is not one for profanities...another thing that irritated Angelina as her and her family have POTTY mouths and even Shakira will lace some F bombs and S bombs to test Brad...but whatever Shakira does makes Brad smile...still he gently coaches her to not follow in Angelina’s footsteps)

1. Brad is locked up in a psych ward
2. Brad’s business is being ripped apart and his employees and subcontractors and clients are shaken
3. Brad is now faced with the prospects of getting out and not having access to his children
4. Brad does have a phone and Joey Bag of Donuts and lot of nut cases to entertain him while he cannot use the phone
5. Brad actually likes the hospital food....

6. Brad is able to do push ups and flirt with a couple of the nurses
7. Brad is thinking this could make a pretty cool movie!

After about 5-6 days....

Brad is in the phone room making his business calls and arranging the purchase of a brand new Range Rover (he wanted to treat himself for all this fiasco and give himself something to look forward to but of course later this was spun against him as reckless spending!)

Suddenly Brad looks over and reads the fine print on a poster revealing how he can get out of the Wizards Castle!

NY State has a mental hygiene department (what a weird name by the way...mental hygiene...can we come up with a better name than mental hygiene)

In this department there are lawyers that are paid by the state to advocate for patients that are locked in castle prisons and other scenarios. Well one these lawyers finally came on the 9th day and interviewed Brad along with:

- Brad's social worker (who was very unsocial and not sure what she did for work)
- Brad's personal junior wizard (aka insecure psychiatrist. Who was fairly attractive)
- Hospital Reporter (because its nice to have official records for court cases))

After interviewing Brad for 15-20 minutes the lawyer turned to the unsocial worker and Brad/s attractive junior wizard and says, "You need to get this guy out of here."

Obviously the lawyer saw the truth that the system and gobbled up a sane man and was preventing him from running his business and life and was basically imprisoning him and utilizing health care money to do so!

What follow from here is Brad getting released from the psych ward and turning his attention to the Nassau County Family Court System in order to get access to his children...

1. Brad goes to Family Court 4 times in 3 months each time getting more access to his children
 - a. First time he is allowed phone calls
 - b. Then he is allowed one hour visits once a week supervised
 - c. Then he is allowed visits
 - d. Then the case ends and he is allowed shared custody with our villain Angelina
2. Brad represents himself pro se
3. Agelina's attorney...slightly above average looks...definitely girl next door vibes...charges Angelina $20,000 for 4 court visits and her sage advice.

(Expensive if you ask me but it's a free country if you see what some of these Only Fans models make it would make Angelina's lawyer blush and jealous!)

4. Brad each time he goes to court reminds the judge
 - a. He has never been physically violent
 - b. He has never yelled at Angelina
 - c. He is a dedicated father being prevented from seeing his children based on an email that had no physical or mental harassment threat

Ohhhh....and remember the $400,000 that Brad had left at Brazilian Fabio's house?

Well when Brad gets out of the castle he calls Fabio and Fabio says "What money". Fabio got so angry with what dumpy Kevin and company did he decided to keep the money leaving our poor Brad:

- without $400,000
- with a business that had been set on fire and beaten up
- having to repair his relationship with his children
- having to find a new home and give up the beautiful home he had renovated inside and out along with a magazine worthy backyard paradise
- a less than stellar reputation in the community where Brad was met with a lot of "good to see you ok now", "its good to have you back", and other comments from people that bought into the lies by Angelina.

June 2024 – June 2026

During these year our Brad plays along with the narrative that he is mentally off. Its helps tame his family and Angelina's family.

Brad even goes to the extent of hiring a Ghost Writer from California who we will call Nick (no real reason for his name...just sounds like ghost writer name) now the ghost writer is good friends with Angelina's first cousin. So Brad knows whatever he says to Nick will eventually get back to the first cousin and then back to Angelina.

Brad convinces his family and Angelina he is on board with the diagnosis and slowly rebuilds his life again looking for allies so he can ESCAPE LONG ISLAND.

Brad is able to rebuild his business yet again and pay Angelina over 10K a month from July 2024 to December 2024.

Poor Angelina was so traumatized by Brad not agreeing with her that she couldn't work much and she also had to make time for her new boyfriend who she met less than a month after kicking out the love of her life Brad in March of 2024. In fact Angelina decided to proudly post a frame over their bed in Brad's old bedroom that says:

"The Day the Earth Stopped for Us"

April 6, 2024

That was the day that Angelina met the new love of her life. She had to dump Brad as she knew she couldn't control him, George (the ex co-worker she kept cheating on Brad with) was still married, and so now Angelina was onto Jim (Jim Carrey...taller guy...funny face and star power and I know Jim Carrey could pull off an average step father role and be a beta male living in the house of an Alpha male -Brad-who pays for the mortgage and utilities and food while he becomes a glorified pool boy).

Now Angelina was a tricky one...when she met Jim (the new boyfriend) she set up her new boyfriend's son and Brad's son Matthew (let's give him a name...Matthew Lamb..up and coming sweetheart of a boy actor and good looking and charismatic...thank you google and IMDb).

Now did the new boyfriend's son and Matthew really get along well? Of course not..they just literally met and lived in different towns and didn't play on the same sports teams. However if Mom says he is a nice boy and you should be friends with him...well Matthew listened as he is Momma's boy at heart (nothing wrong with that as long as there is an Alpha around to balance it out).

Angelina started right away doing hang outs where her, the boyfriend, Matthew, Shakira, and the boyfriends two sons were all hanging out.

I know what you are going to say....it is all too fast...listen Angelina needed to move on with her life....

Meanwhile....

Brad took the new boyfriend in stride...tried to not let it bother him that Jim was doing the nasty with Angelina in his house during the daytime while Angelina was supposed to be growing her business.

(Why should Jim or Angelina work if Brad is going to be giving $10+ K a month.....he can subsidize them doing the nasty and even perhaps support them having another child together...its America! Anything is possible!!)

1. Brad took the time to bond with his children in his luxurious 1 bedroom apartment in Baldwin that had no dining room...a grouchy landlord...but a water view of a canal where he got to see the occasional duck and a charming racoon family early in the morning.

2. Brad rebuilt his businesses and planned to make his next move.
3. Brad downloaded his experiences with his Ghost writer and developed a mock “Bipolar playbook” that he proudly announced to his sister and Angelina to keep them relaxed.
4. Brad got back into the dating world and rebuilt his Moxy, got in better shape, and started eating healthier.

Fast Forward....May 2026 Memorial Day Weekend

- As Brad started to climb back up and get more enthusiastic about life this time it was his sister Jennifer that was the leader of the mob

(Jennifer Anniston – not as attractive as Jennifer Anniston and wrong color hair but just as uptight as you could imagine Jennifer Anniston to be and a whiny female dog and someone that prefers to have a beta male around)

- Jennifer started to conspire with Angelina and ask Brad if he was “ok” or basically

“TO PROVE A NEGATIVE”

Friday evening of that weekend Jennifer and Angelina (who at most times were bitter rivals and spit venom at each other via Brad but during times of war became strange “bedfellows”

So Brad sat at his dining room table with these two bitter rivals and remarked to Jennifer and Angelina how happy he was that these two people who talked so much smack about each other were getting along so nicely. (Our Brad is always so willing to put people on their toes)

Brad was able to escape that meeting and ensure them that he was “ok” and that he would allow them to “check in with him” to prove the negative. Now Brad knew that once a person believes there is a problem:

- they will look for a problem
- they will not stop until they find any problem.

Modern day psychology is about control not enhancement of the individual... when you want to control someone you can weaponize psychiatry and psychology.

Brad took Matthew and Shakira out east on Long Island where they had a fabulous two days. It was during these two days that the children started to open up about some things.

1. Shakira started telling Brad that she ignores Angelina because her mom (Angelina) ignores her at home and scrolls Instagram but tells Shakira that she is making work calls
2. Matthew then is emboldened and tells Brad that Angelina consistently texts and drives and makes him nervous. Matthew is a rule follower and anxious like his mother but he insists that it is not occasionally and she looks down too often and she is addicted to it.
3. Matthew and Shakira then go into how Angelina has taught her boyfriend (Jim) to yell at them when she is done yelling at them).

Brad realizes that he needs to help the children confront Angelina and when he does so Angelina will team up harder with his sister Jennifer and start the process of weaponization.

1. Brad sits down with Matthew and Shakira and tells them that they will confront Angelina but after that he will drive them to Angelina's brothers-in-law's and drop them off. He explains as simply as possible the scenario.
2. Brad tells them that they will be told that Daddy is not well mentally and encourages them to believe whatever they want to believe

Brad, Matthew, and Shakira spend another hour or so together and then promptly drive back to the east end of Long Island and part ways not knowing when they will see each other again.

The following days.....

- One day later Angelina files an order of protection in Nassau County court with no evidence of any mental or physical harassment. There is merely the statement that Brad is "unwell"
- The Court via the Sherrif's department is unable to serve Brad as he is staying in New York City
- Angelina learns of weaponizing the Criminal Court System and files a Criminal Order of protection as well... and gets a couple of other people to file criminal orders of protection again with no claims of verbal or physical harassment. The evidence provided is faulty evidence based mostly on text messages non-threatening in nature.
- Brad stays away from long Island and spends some time admiring the South and continuing the work with his non profit for homeless people and underprivileged people
- Family Court Calls Brad saying he is missing his court appearance but Brad reminds the court secretary that he was never served and never had the court date.

- Nassau County Police call saying they need Brad to come in and that he will be arrested for violating the order of protection because of a text message to his ex mother in law where he stated the name Angelina and how that is a violation of the order

(Brad explains the technical term of 3rd party contact to the detective but the detective decides to use the definition he came up with...again its 2026...you are allowed in school to come up with your own definition so why shouldn't the police be allowed to do so!!!)

- Brad drives to upstate NY and stays in Ithaca for the weekend and prepares to come back to NY to turn himself in. However one of this videos gives off his location and Ithaca police pull him from his hotel room at 5am and take him away in handcuffs without a call to an attorney or reading any rights.
- Brad is then brought to Nassau Country Sheriff's who meet Ithaca police halfway.
- Nassau Country Sheriff's then bring Brad to Family Court Jail and it is then they realize that Brad has never been served. So they quickly read Brad the order and slide the order of protection in his suitcase.
- Brad spends over 35 hours arrested between the following
 - Ithaca police
 - Nassau County Sheriff's
 - Nassau County 4th precinct
 - Nassau Country Mineola detainment/Corrections officers
- None of the law enforcement officers give Brad the opportunity to call anyone to let anyone know he is alive and any marching orders regarding the business.

Next 2 ½ Months

- Brad's name is sullied by the whispering campaign of Angelina and his sister Jennifer
- Jennifer (Brad's sister) changes the locks on Brad's house he had purchased with his money ($150,000) and renovated ($100,000) and upon returning from his trip to and getting arrested he found the locks changed and all of his children's possessions removed from the house and Brad has no access to his possessions.
- Brad decides to move to Atlanta to get away and start developing his businesses there and has to postpone a court appearance on July 15th and informs his probation officer. She doesn't inform the judge.
- Brad misses a court date on August 7th. The court reads it as a 2nd missed court date and issues a warrant for Brad's arrest.

- Brad returns to Family Court for the first official appearance on August 11 and he sees the judge who remarks that he believes Angelina that Brad is mentally unwell
 - Nassau County police arrest Brad outside of family court while Brad was on the way to go to the criminal courthouse to schedule another date.
 - Brad spends 10 days locked up before finally deciding to be bailed out. Brad would have been indefinitely locked otherwise before being found guilty of anything and having not even been accused of anything violent.
-

ESCAPE FROM LONG ISLAND

Now before you play any violins for our Brad please remember that Brad is a man and men don't like sympathy tissues or violins....a true man takes the tests presented to him by life and learns from them and rises above them or succumbs to them.

And if you think that this is all unfair then you could be right but how does a man learn to fight if all fights are a fair fight.

If you have ever played chess then you understand the fact that there are so many moves you can make and not every piece on the board holds equal weight.

When you start to play against someone better than you they can beat you in a few moves because they know. And then gradually you learn the rules to the game and you see the weak spots and you are able to rise to the level of competition before long especially if you are paying attention.

The greater the game the harder the competition. For Brad the game was never him versus Angelina nor was it him versus Jennifer. For Brad it was him versus the system. For Angelina and others were merely using the weapons and moves they had. They might be villains but they would not have the weapons if the state didn't allow them to wield them.

“With liberty and justice for all!”

250 years ago our founding fathers signed a document that promised this. They came close to making it a reality but they did leave out slaves, women, and non land owners to name a few.

Since that time we have paid homage to the founding fathers but we have not corrected the “sins of the father.” And that may piss people off as they are happy with the way things are going and they feel like there is a level playing field in this country but with any honest look it is far from “liberty and justice for all.”

What happened to our BRAD!???

DID HE GET REUNITED WITH MATTHEW AND SHAKIRA???

Well sorry to leave you on a cliff hanger but you will have to wait to find out as some stories have yet to play out but I do believe this one will have a happy ending.

WHAT IS BRADS PLAN?

The title may just give it away (Escape From Long Island) But in truth it was obvious that Long Island didn't serve Brad and that he needed to leave and grow and then return at some point when it was safer for him.

For in Brad's world there were too many people that wished to see Brad either in a mental institution or in jail and in our society the wrong text message can get you in trouble.

IS THERE A WAY WE CAN HELP BRAD?

In truth there is a Brad or several Brad's in every community and the way you help Brad is by:

- Start to envision a more ideal world before its too late and HAVE FUN with it. Life is meant to be enjoyed so if you are pessimistic or lack hope or complain too much go out and take a walk or a run or go kick the garbage can around....get active
- Start asking other people to envision a more ideal world
- Hold yourself and others accountable gradually more and more to an ideal scene
- Allow others to hold you accountable and find those that are the best at it and make THEM your best friends!

Injustice Anywhere is a threat to Justice Everywhere” – MLK

When you start doing the above you will certainly see more and more of the injustices in this world and you will have the opportunity to do “the next right thing” and if you are unfamiliar with the movie line it is a great one from Frozen 2....a very underrated sequel!

If you need help to get inspired we at Renaissance Media will be here with more and more access to content to help inspire the next right thing.

www.therenaissancemedia.com

If you need help with a boring life or the next right thing give Live Free Now a call.

www.livefreenow.life

If you want to change the justice system in America join the Rule 43 movement at www.therule43.com

If you want to some help with your home and setting it up for doing the next right thing call us at:

www.lisahomeowner.com

WHEN CAN I GET UPDATES ON BRAD?

Any of the above websites has an email sign up. Go ahead and sign up and you can get regular updates or you can join our text group where we give weekly updates.

Thank you for reading and we hope you make your life a story worth telling!!!! We are here to help you along the way!!!!

From your friend at

RENAISSANCE ENTERPRISES

